

Faculty of Computers and Information Technology

Ethics and Social Impacts of Computing

Information :

Course Code : CSE 211

Level : Undergraduate

Course Hours : 2.00- Hours

Department : Faculty of Computers and Information Technology

Description :

The course provides critical examination of ethical problems associated with computer science and engineering, legal and quasi-legal (i.e., policy and regulative) issues. Topics covered in the course are intellectual property and copyright, process of ethical decision-making, privacy and confidentiality, computer crime, professional codes and responsibilities, software piracy and impact of computers on society.