Histochemical and Histological study on the possible radioprotective effect of acetyl salicylic acid (Aspirin) on the percentage of survival cells in the parotid and submandibular salivary glands of irradiated rats.

Amany Rabea, Medhat A. El-Zainy, Reham M. Amin and Amany A. Ahmed

Abstract

The aim of this work is to study the possible radioprotective effect of acetyl salicylic acid (Aspirin) on the percentage of survival cells in the parotid and submandibular salivary glands of irradiated rats.

Thesis - 2009, January