Effect of cement thickness and cement type on stress distribution over implant retained cantilever fixed prosthesis

Rasha Nabil

part-time Lecturer, Fixed Prosthodontics

Abstract

The aim of this study was to evaluate the effect of different cement types as well as their different thicknesses on the stress distribution over implants retaining cantilever fixed prosthesis

Egyptian Dental Journal - 2013, January