Salwa Thabet

Abstract

The main objective of the conference was to develop a detailed outlined for a one semester 3-credit hour course on integrity that can be tailored to each university’s structure, requirements, and needs, that uses student-centred teaching methods. There was a strong focus in the course on skills-building and student empowerment, which are going to be determining factors for the long-term success of the reforms currently underway in so much of the Arab world. The goal is to educate a generation of young professionals who know that there are alternatives to corruption and who are empowered to act with and demand integrity in their professional environments and societies at large.
