

Revolution, Cyber Culture and New Identity: Egyptian Political Changes as a Model

Sarra Moneir

Assistant Lecturer of Political Science

Abstract

The paper discusses the impact of the digital media on the rise and continuation of the evolution, identity shaping of the Egyptian youth and the people, and the confrontation between the old and the new institutions in the Egyptian State. It will be published at an International Conference at the University of Amsterdam.

- 2012, January