

Silicone elastomer uptake method for determination of free 1-alkyl-2-pyrrolidone concentration in micelle and hydroxy- /cyclodextrin systems used in skin transport studies

Dalia Samuel

Abstract

The use of silicone as inert phase has no interaction with cyclodextrins was investigated to calculate the distribution coefficient

Journal of Pharmaceutical Sciences 2008, April