Transformation from Conflict to Cooperative Coexistence: The Role of Islamic Perspective on Identity in International Relations

Yasmine Zeinelabedine Ahmed Mohamed Radwan, Yasmine Zein Al-Abedine

Assistant Lecturer

Abstract

This research paper tests the role of Islamic perspective on identity in international conflict management by analyzing the Islamic discourse on the cultural difference and the culture of difference. The paper is based on comparing it with the Western perspective (Roman and catholic), Judaism and Christianity. The goal is to clarify the Islamic methodology in conflict resolution and how it could be applied through a new jurisprudence.

"Islam on the Prairies", University of Saskatchewan and the Frances Morrison Public Library in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, May 13-14, 2016, May